

THE LAST GREAT APE ORGANIZATION, CAMEROON LAGA

SECOND SEMESTER REPORT JULY – DECEMBER 2022

Executive Summary

Many achievements were recorded in LAGA's collaboration with the Ministry of Forestry and Wildlife (MINFOF) despite several challenges posed during the period July to December 2022. These achievements were obtained in the fields of investigation, arrest, prosecution, media exposure, government relations and international activities. Focus was on the fight against the illegal wildlife trade; principally trafficking in pangolin scales, elephant tusks, primates and leopard skins. The EAGLE network's Central Coordination Unit (CCU) continued to provide vital technical and organisation support that facilitated several operations resulting in a significant number of arrests. 22 traffickers were arrested during the period.

22 major traffickers were arrested at a rate of one for every 9 days and 61% stayed behind bars from the day of arrest. 21 new cases were brought to the courts. 13 traffickers were found guilty and handed prison sentences, fines and damages during 8 court judgements passed. Damages amounted to some 16,237, 000 FCFA (about $32,474). awarded to MINFOF. Three appeals were lodged against unsatisfactory court rulings. Media exposure was at a rate one media piece per day.

The EAGLE network achieved substantial results as 141 traffickers were arrested across 7 countries. In order to provide a deterrent effect across the Network, 1,966 media pieces were published in national media.

The work of LAGA was supported by Wildcat, David Shepherd Wildlife Foundation (DSWF), Dutch Gorilla Foundation, Pangolin Crisis Fund, - Born Free Foundation

LAST GREAT APE ORGANISATION, CAMEROON (LAGA)
SECOND SEMESTER REPORT
July – December 2022

OVERVIEW

Investigations

- A total of 101 investigation missions (of varying lengths) were carried out in 6 regions.

Operations

- Operations were carried out in 2 regions arresting 22 major traffickers resulting in 21 court cases at a rate one every one and a half week.
- Operations were on pangolin scales, ivory including several elephant tusks and ivory pieces, live primates, African grey parrots and human skeletons.
- The rate of imprisonment of arrested offender stood at 61%.
- 11 traffickers were arrested in the month of September during 4 operations with 2 human skeletons, 154.kg of ivory seized and a young mandrill rescued.
- 366 kg of pangolin scales were seized and 6 traffickers arrested.

Legal

- 21 new cases were brought to court. Many of the 21 cases began during the period have not yet reached the prosecution stage but procedures are ongoing.
- 13 traffickers were found guilty and handed prison sentences, fines and damages. Damages amounted to some 16,237, 000 FCFA (about $32,474). awarded to MINFOF.
- 8 court judgements were passed during the 6-month period and three appeals lodged.

Media

- A total of 199 media pieces were produced in national media (radio, TV, written press and internet) achieved at a rate of one media piece per day.

Management

- The first semester report of 2022 was made available online.
- Recruitment was intensified with candidates selected and some tested.
- Focus was on maintaining high standards in every department and on improving recruitment for investigators.

External Relations and Policy

- Several meetings were held with MINFOF officials, the diplomatic community, national and international NGOs to discuss issues on collaboration, governance, wildlife law enforcement among others.

Strategic Highlights

- The operational focus over this period was on pangolin scales, ivory, primates and birds
- The strategic focus was ensuring investigations and operations were smoothly carried out despite challenges of diverse nature that were posed.
- A new round of recruitment targeting investigators with specific skills and competences was carried out.

- The CCU evaluated and provided strategic assistance to management to the operational and organisational functioning of the organisation.

EAGLE Activities

A total of 141 traffickers were arrested across 7 countries of the network during the semester. In order to provide a deterrent effect, 1,966 media pieces were published in national media across the network.

NARRATIVE REPORT

This report covers the period July to December 2022 and focuses on progress in the activities of each department, notably, investigations, operations, legal, media and management. It also includes a strategic overview and an analysis of the impact of operations on wildlife crime in Cameroon, relations with the Cameroonian government, non-governmental bodies, collaboration with international partners and non-enforcement initiatives that LAGA undertook.

1. Investigations

LAGA's investigation unit carried out 101 investigation missions in 6 regions of the country during the second half of the year. The focus was on strict respect for procedures and security measures, a good mastery of investigation rules and a proper application of them. This was strictly supervised at the level of management and at the Central Coordination Unit (CCU). The quality of results improved significantly. The collaboration with the Central Coordination Unit that provided vital investigation support and guidance. New investigative strategies were put in place earlier in the year continued to strictly followed. A number of complex and sophisticated investigations were started and are still to come to the operational stage.

The recruitment was intensified with some candidates interviewed. One was put on a test and a drive to recruit online investigators went well underway. The contractual relationship with one of the members of the investigation team came to an end. He was wished good luck to his new endeavours as he leaves the team after several years of service to wildlife law enforcement in the country.

The Head of Department met with some administrative, wildlife, customs and law enforcement officials at divisional levels to strengthen collaboration in the fight against wildlife law enforcement.

The Head of the Department and his deputy were all part of the operation team during operations carried out during the period and this greatly boosted the operation capacity of the whole team.

2. Operations

LAGA and the Government of Cameroon carried out operations in 2 regions against 22 individuals resulting in 21 court cases at a rate of one every 9 days. A combination of old and new strategies resulted in more complex and sophisticated operations to meet up to the changing tactics of traffickers. The prime focus of operations was on pangolin scales trafficker who accounted for 32% of the traffickers arrested, ivory traffickers who represented 23%, bird traffickers representing 18%, primate traffickers with 9%. Human skeleton traffickers were also arrested and represented 18%. Below are operations carried according to the various months;

In September, 4 operations were carried out, beginning with in Yaounde where 2 traffickers were arrested with 10 elephant tusks weighing 56 kg. They concealed the tusks in a suitcase and transported it on a motorcycle to a residence where they were expected to carry out the transaction. Soon after they arrived, they were arrested during attempts to sell the ivory. The contraband was concealed in the notorious Briqueterie neighbourhood in Yaounde. The traffickers belong to a trafficking ring operating in major ivory trafficking hotspots and especially in a Kye-ossi.. The traffickers are linked to Abdoul Salami, arrested in 2021 with 2 tons of pangolin scales and leopard skins. The ring operates in Congo, Gabon, Nigeria and beyond. Close relatives attempted to free the traffickers by applying pressure on wildlife officials but the attempts were aborted

During the second operation, 4 traffickers were arrested with 2 human skeletons in Douala, Littoral Region. They transported the skeletons concealed inside a big plastic bag from their base in the South West Region to Douala where they lodged in a luxury hotel. Later, they moved to another hotel to sell the skeletons where they were arrested red handed. Their arrest is a result of an investigation into the illegal online trade in pangolin scales and leopard skins to India. LAGA and the entire EAGLE Network, as activists, do our best to fight injustice. Human sacrifice and the illegal trade in human bones for black magic and rituals is one of such horrible crimes.

3 traffickers more traffickers were arrested in Douala, Littoral Region with 98 kg of ivory in a crackdown on a Nigerian ivory gang. They were arrested in Douala's notorious New Bell neighbourhood. The traffickers blocked the entrance to their residence, hid inside different rooms but were found one after the other and arrested. The ivory was concealed in two suitcases and hidden in one of the rooms. The ring controlled trafficking lines to Nigeria and to Cote d'Ivoire and moved ivory from as far as Congo. One of them claimed to have been smuggling ivory for over 35 years.

Finally, in September, 2 traffickers were arrested and a mandrill rescued in Yaounde, Center Region. The mandrill was forcefully pushed into a sack and transported to be traded illegally. The animal was brought by a worker in a logging company near the Congolese border. The mandrill lived chained to a tree. When rescued it moved nervously and frantically inside the bag as wildlife officials tried to free him. He was taken to Mvogbetsi zoo for care and support.

In October, 2 traffickers were arrested with 66 kg of giant pangolin scales in Yaounde, Centre Region. One of the traffickers, a Nigerian, has been operating his ring for at least four years and this was known during investigations into the illegal trade in pangolin scales in the area. They travelled from Ntui to Yaounde with the giant pangolin scales concealed in 2 grains bags. They activated several smaller traffickers in the Ntui – Yoko area that is well known for wildlife trafficking activities. They were arrested at a bus station where they concealed the pangolin scales while attempting to sell it.

Still in October, 2 traffickers were arrested with 180 kg of giant pangolin scales in Yaounde, Centre Region. They smuggled the 7 sacks from Lomie, in the East Region to Yaounde. The sacks were hidden in pepper and wild fruits and transported in trucks. One of the traffickers was arrested as he attempted to sell the scales. He denounced the second who was arrested a couple of hours later. They are experienced traffickers who used dealing in wild mango from Lomie to Yaounde as a front business for their trafficking. They equally had several smaller traffickers they activated in Lomie and its environs.

Two operations were carried out in December. 4 traffickers were arrested in Akonolinga, Centre Region with 28 African grey parrots. The crackdown dismantled a ring of parrot traffickers operating in the area. The parrots were transported crammed tight in a small wooden cage and kept in very poor condition. They were leading a ring of local poachers who captured live African grey parrots. They also sold parrots to some notorious parrot trafficking networks in Yaounde and farther afield. Several parrots were sold by the traffickers during the period of the investigations that took a couple of months.

And during the last operation of the year 3 traffickers were arrested in Nanga Eboko, Centre Region with 120 kg of pangolin scales. Two of them were activating several poachers generating regular killings of pangolins. One of the traffickers used his motorcycle to transport the scales. They are experienced in trafficking pangolin scales and complained that the Covid 19 pandemic hampered their activity, but they were quickly picking up where they left off before the pandemic started. The area is widely known for the illicit bushmeat trade.

3. Legal

A total of 21 new cases reached the court and the cases joined old cases that were scheduled, followed-up and tried in various courts. Some jail visits were organized. A court sentenced 3 traffickers to 5 years in prison. They were arrested in September with 2 human skeletons. Another court sentenced two traffickers to 13 months in prison. They were arrested with 386 kg of pangolin scales in April. Damages awarded to MINFOF amounted to some 16,237, 000 FCFA (about $32,474). Most of the cases initiated within this period have not yet reached the judgement stage and the rate of keeping the accused behind bars at the onset of the procedure stood at with 61%. This was uncharacteristically very low and measures are being taken to improve on the situation next year.

A total of 46 missions were carried out of the Centre Region for follow-up of new cases and the creation and strengthening of relations with judicial authorities. More emphasis as a direct result of operations was on pangolin scales that produced close to a third of all the cases while ivory cases followed in second.

During the period 8 court judgements were passed with 13 traffickers found guilty and 11 of them given a prison sentence while 2 others were sanctioned to pay fines and damages. 2 traffickers were acquitted. Three appeals were made; one in July, another in November and the third in December.

In July, the Douala – Bonassama Court of First Instance found the accused NUMVI Christopher guilty and sentenced him to 3 months in prison and to pay 100,000 FCFA as fine and 2,000,000 FCFA (about $4,000) as damages. He was arrested in Douala - Bonaberi on April 8, 2022 for illegal possession of a mandrill.

The Ngoumou Court of First Instance found the accused OTTOU ATANGANA Moïse not guilty and acquitted him. He was arrested in Yaounde - Bandouma on the March 28, 2022 for illegal possession of two chimpanzees. An appeal against the ruling was filed at Centre Court of Appeal.

In August, the Douala – Bonanjo Court of First Instance found the accused NDAWOU Elisabeth guilty and sentenced her to a 6-month jail term suspended for 3 years and to pay 1,070,000 FCFA (about $2,140) as damages. She was arrested in Douala on the August 3, 2020 for the illegal possession of one rhinoceros horn.

In October, the Yaounde - Ekounou Court of First Instance found the accused BAH Abasse and WANDJI Paul Eloi guilty. The court sentenced them to 13 months in prison and to jointly pay 581,300 FCFA as fines and 29,650 FCFA (about $60) each as court fees. They were also sentenced to pay 10,000,000 FCFA (about $20,000) as damages. They were arrested in Yaounde on April 23, 2022 for illegal possession of 386 kg of pangolin scales.

The Nkongsamba Court of First Instance found the accused NGUEKENG Gilbert Pacôme and LAPA Dieudonné Gabri guilty. The court ruled that they should pay 3,000,000 FCFA (about $6,000) each as fines and 150.000 FCFA (about $300) each as court fees. They were arrested in Melong on February 23, 2022 for illegal possession of a leopard skin and a civet skin.

The Douala - Bonassama Court of First Instance found the accused AKO Vialli EBOT, CHE Eric and RAMDY GUEMOH guilty and sentenced them to 5 years in prison and to pay 100, 000 FCFA (about $200) each as fines. They are wildlife traffickers arrested on the September 19, 2022 for illegal possession and sale of human skeletons.

In November, the Yaounde – Centre Administratif Court of First Instance found the accused MOHAMADOU Awal not guilty and acquitted him. However, the court found the accused ABOUKAR Ali guilty and sentenced him to 2 months in prison, to pay 200,000 FCFA as fines and 45,610 FCFA (about $91) as court fees. He was also ordered to pay 620,000 FCFA (about $1,240) as damages. They were arrested in Yaounde on September 3, 2022 for illegal possession of 56 kg of ivory tusks. An appeal was at the Centre Court of Appeal.

In December, the Douala – Bonanjo Court of First Instance found the accused NGOUNGOURE Amsetou, ABDOUL Nassirou and SEGUN Shoyombo guilty and sentenced them to 12 months suspended prison sentence during 3 years and to pay 2,547,000 FCFA (about $5,094) as damages. They were arrested in Douala on December 20, 2022 for illegal possession of 98 kg of ivory tusks. The ruling was appealed at the Littoral Court of Appeal.

4. Media

A total of 199 media pieces were produced and pushed into media including numerous articles in all media – radio, television, written press and the internet; achieved at a rate of one media piece per day. September and November months recorded the highest number of media pieces and August recorded the lowest. The low output could be explained by the lack of arrest operations in July and August.

The stories had as principal focus wildlife law enforcement operations and court activities including the trial and sentencing of 3 traffickers at the Court of First Instance of Ekounou for the illegal possession of 386kg of pangolin scales, the Yaounde arrest of 2 traffickers with 56 kg of ivory, the Douala arrest of 3 traffickers with 100 kg of ivory tusks, the Mbankomo arrest of 2 mandrill traffickers, the Yaounde arrest of 2 traffickers with 66kg of pangolin scales, the Douala arrest of 3 human skeleton traffickers, the Yaounde arrests of two traffickers with 180kg of pangolin scales, the Akonolinga arrests of four traffickers with 28 African grey parrots and the arrest of three traffickers with 120kg of pangolin scales in Nanga Eboko.

Quotes or interviews used in the various news stories and articles were from the Littoral Regional Delegate of Forestry and Wildlife, the Founding Director of the EAGLE Network and IUCN Director General.

The distribution of Wildlife Justice Magazine continued. Wildlife Justice is a thematic journal that focuses on wildlife law enforcement and conservation issues.

5. Management

Despite difficulties in ensuring adequate resources for the organisation, all the departments worked hard to improving on the results of the semester. The first semester report of 2022 was uploaded online. The electronic versions are available online on the LAGA website www.laga-enforcement.org. This is a result of teamwork involving all the departments in LAGA – Investigations, Legal, Media, Operations and Management.

Two regions of the country that are facing security problems continue to pose a challenge but plans have been put in place to quickly cover the regions once the situation on the ground improves.

Within the framework of The Global Portrait Project, the portrait of the Deputy Director in was published online. The portrait was painted by artist James Nickells who is the founder of the Global Portrait Project. He is painting an environmental activist from each of the 196 countries chosen from around the world. The Deputy Director was selected for Cameroon. Watch the painting - <https://youtu.be/acZB0AV8Xyg>

Recruitment for the investigations department continued with one volunteer tested. Several recruitment tests were done. An online investigator started his training and testing period. A member of the investigation team’s contract was not renewed.

An external audit by Moore Stephens was initiated and satisfactorily carried out with very good results.

6. External Relations and Policy

The Deputy Director held a meeting with two TRAFFIC officials to discuss pangolin conservation and the development of the Cameroon Pangolin Working Group.

He participated at a workshop on the training officials of the Nsimalen International Airport. He did a presentation on wildlife law enforcement during the workshop that was organized by TRAFFIC.

He held a meeting with the Sub Director of Development and Wildlife Exploitation to discuss issues related to the signing of a new Memorandum of Understanding with the Ministry of Forestry and Wildlife and lawyers' representation in wildlife cases in court.

He held a meeting with the Centre Regional Delegate of Forestry and Wildlife to discuss the fight against wildlife crime and strengthen collaboration.

The Heads of the Legal and Investigations Department participated in joint missions with MINFOF officials in Yaounde and Ebolowa to evaluate activities carried out under the framework of the Memorandum of Understanding.

The Deputy Director held a meeting with the Director of Criminal Affairs at the Ministry of Justice to discuss an ongoing wildlife matter and strengthen collaboration.

He participated at a meeting that focused on improving operational procedures for the management of ivory stocks in government storage facilities.

He held a meeting with the manager of the Limbe Wildlife Centre to discuss issues related to rescued primates and collaboration in fighting wildlife crime.

The Head of the Legal Department and legal advisers held several meetings with administrative, wildlife and judicial officials to strengthen collaboration and in some cases to discuss ongoing cases, build common strategies and strengthen collaboration.

7. LAGA and the EAGLE Network

LAGA's new model for NGO – Government collaboration establishing wildlife law enforcement, bringing about results with an innovative approach geared at changing the existing system and triggering a paradigm shift in the way NGOs tackle wildlife crime is being realised within the EAGLE network. The model is focusing on the prosecution of major traffickers, not the small-time poacher who is motivated by the city dwelling traffickers. This involves fighting head on the major obstacle to the application of the wildlife law in Africa – Corruption. LAGA's experience and model is currently operating within the EAGLE network that group 9 countries.

The replication of the LAGA model is also geared at taking cross section lessons outside of wildlife conservation; these include the fight against corruption, fostering activism, fight against child trafficking etc.

<http://www.laga-enforcement.org/Replication/tabid/166/Default.aspx>

The EAGLE network is now responsible for the replication activity of the LAGA model but LAGA continued assistance of young projects in the domain of investigation, operation, media and management. In this regard technical support was given to other EAGLE Network projects

8. Fostering Activism

All the activism fostering activities carried out by the LAGA family are online; this could be gotten at the LAGA website – <http://www.laga-enforcement.org/Activithvism/tabid/77/Default.aspx>

9. Strategic Overview of Wildlife Crime in Cameroon and Operations' Impact

Beyond the number of operations and their effectiveness, there is an even more important factor in evaluating LAGA's work – the strategic value of the operations and its impact on the illegal wildlife trade. In this regard, LAGA is choosing diversified operations, which carry an added value to expose and map the different angles of wildlife crime in Cameroon. Consequently, the LAGA-MINFOF work sheds light on the nature of illegal wildlife trade in the sub-region. The strategic focus over this period was on pangolin scales, ivory, primates and birds

9.1 Pangolin Scales

Over 360 kg of pangolin scales were seized from some 6 traffickers during the period. The illegal trade has returned in full force after the Covid 19 pandemic disruptions in several activities including trafficking: They represented the biggest group of traffickers arrested and demonstrates the importance of not relenting efforts targeting pangolin scales traffickers as this is an illegal trade that can involve several kinds of traffickers. Unlike ivory trafficking where you find highly specialised and top level traffickers dominating and controlling the trafficking, pangolin scales can bring every kind of trafficker together. The poor trafficker with just a few kilograms being activated by the major traffickers handling hundreds of kilograms as witnessed during the semester.

In October, 2 traffickers were arrested with 66 kg of giant pangolin scales in Yaounde, Centre Region. One of the traffickers, a Nigerian, has been operating his ring for at least four years and this was known during investigations into the illegal trade in pangolin scales in the area. 2 other traffickers were arrested with 180 kg of giant pangolin scales in Yaounde, They equally had several smaller traffickers they activated in Lomie and its environs.

And during the last operation of the year, 3 traffickers were arrested in Nanga Eboko, Centre Region with 120 kg of pangolin scales. Two of them were activating several poachers generating regular killings of pangolins. They complained that the Covid 19 pandemic hampered their activity, but they were quickly picking up where they left off before the pandemic started.

9.2 Ivory

Two operations carried out in Douala and Yaounde resulted in the seizure of over 150kg of ivory from two well developed artworks that span the sub region and beyond. Ivory trafficking invariably operates in networks, with enough sophistication and funds to carry out the intricate business of selling illegal ivory tusks. The networks operate cross border trafficking and move ivory along frontiers with specialised skills and knowledge. In September, 2 ivory operations were done with 2 traffickers arrested with 10 elephant tusks weighing 56 kg. The traffickers belong to a trafficking ring operating in major ivory trafficking hotspots and especially in a Kye-ossi, a border town.. The traffickers are linked to Abdoul Salami, arrested in 2021 with 2 tons of pangolin scales and leopard skins. The ring operates in Congo, Gabon, Nigeria and beyond. Close relatives attempted to free the traffickers by applying pressure on wildlife officials but the attempts were aborted. During the second operation, 3 traffickers more traffickers were arrested in Douala with 98 kg of ivory in a crackdown on a Nigerian ivory gang. The ring controlled trafficking lines to Nigeria and to Cote d'Ivoire and moved ivory from as far as Congo. One of them claimed to have been smuggling ivory for over 35 years.

9.3 Birds

The illegal trade in African grey parrots was once more the focus in the East Region. A notoriously lively ring was dismantled. The ring included poachers of live parrots and traffickers who supplied networks in bigger towns. 28 African grey parrots were rescued and 4 traffickers arrested in December. They had been active all the time continuously selling parrots as investigations into their illegal business was well underway. They seemed to know some wildlife law enforcement officials. The illicit trade, it should be noted, can only thrive if there is corruption because African grey parrots, like other parrots, are noisy and can't be transported nor stored without drawing attention and the traffickers need to be able to manipulate and corrupt. Even the traffickers today admit, it is becoming extremely difficult to gather huge quantities of the parrots because, they are dwindling very fast in the forest. This could explain why the four traffickers sold small quantities of parrot, albeit, fairly regularly.

9.4 Live Primates

Rescued primates are generally malnourishment, diseased and stressed. They arrive sanctuaries in very bad state and generally require fast measures to save them from death. The country is home to the mandrill, among other important primate species. Mandrills are commonly illegally traded in the country. These turn up fairly regularly in rescue operations. In September, 2 traffickers were arrested and a mandrill rescued in Yaounde, The mandrill was forcefully pushed into a sack and transported to be traded illegally. The animal was brought by a worker in a logging company near the Congolese border. The mandrill lived chained to a tree. When rescued it moved nervously and frantically inside the bag as wildlife officials tried to free him. He was taken to Mvogbetsi zoo for care and support

10. Corruption and Wildlife Crime

LAGA has been an experiment field for methods of fighting corruption within a law enforcement and application process. All bribing attempts are documented into our case tracking systems. LAGA is not an observer of corruption; it was created to fight corruption, redirecting the positive pressures existing within the system, usually wasted in large conferences, to specific corruption attempts and the field realities that form corruption. These bribery attempts are vigorously fought against and vehemently condemned by LAGA. LAGA is not a watchdog group and not created as an observer, it fights directly whenever corrupt practices or bribery attempts have been observed.

This ongoing fight is directed towards issues that touch on corruption and bad governance. In 4 cases, corruption was observed and exposed following the arrest of traffickers. In September, when 2 ivory traffickers were arrested in Yaounde and taken to the police office, family members attempted bribing police officers handling the matter and their boss. The officers stood their ground and pushed back the attempts. This did not discourage the relatives of the traffickers who attempted stopping the case at the level of the wildlife office but the Regional Delegate of Forestry and Wildlife equally pushed back and refused their attempts at “negotiating”

This happened again in the same month in Douala following the arrest of 4 traffickers with human skeletons. They attempted bribing police officers who refused. The last operation in September witnessed the same approach, following the dismantling of the Nigeria-linked gang and the arrest of 3 ivory traffickers in Douala. As wildlife law enforcement officials were establishing the offence report, they received pressure from family members of the traffickers. They proposed money to the judicial police officer and wildlife officials who refused. After witnessing the steadfast attitude of law enforcement officials, another approach consisting basically of negotiating for their release was initiated by approaching one of the deputy state prosecutors.

Two traffickers were arrested in October trafficking in pangolin scales and they immediately set out attempting bribing their way out. They failed to bribe the wildlife law enforcement officials and police agents in charge of the establishment of the offence report. They were finally asked to pay a significantly low amount of money to be granted bail..
