General

This month was marked by a big court prosecution and record award of damages pertaining to 2 dealers arrested while trafficking 1 ton of ivory representing more than 150 killed elephants.

3 cases were sentenced this month against 4 subjects. The Court of First Instance of Bonanjo-Douala – Littoral sentenced 2 ivory dealers to 1 year of imprisonment and to pay over $116,500 as damages and fine. They were arrested in Douala for illegal dealing in and ready to export 1 ton of ivory representing more than 150 killed elephants. LAGA played a pivotal role in establishing a case file against the traffickers. The illegal ivory trade is rooted in corruption. Fighting corruption is therefore necessary in stopping illegal ivory trade; through effective wildlife law enforcement and prosecuting the heads of the criminal ivory trafficking cartels.

2 dealers were arrested in Kribi – South Region with 14 sea turtle shells. They have been in this illegal business for long and were carrying out their illegal activities openly and with impunity because of the lack of any concrete action to repel this illegal trade. This operation proves that illegal trade in sea turtle shells has been ongoing for long and very strong in that area. This problem necessitated LAGA's intervention in hitting main actors and exposing this illegal trade. The LAGA Director have been using in some of his presentations for a long time the example of Kribi and Campo where several projects claimed to work on the protection of sea turtles for years with strong contrast to the open sale of sea turtle shells. This contrast, a symptom for a larger failure can be seen in the sign in the photograph (this month in pictures), one of many decorating the area around where sea turtle products were openly sold for a long time. One of the hopes is that this serves as a message that we demand more from conservation, than publicity and workshops.

In another operation, a well known dealer and trafficker in ivory was arrested in Abong Mbang - East region with elephant tusks of less than 5 kg. The operation was carried out with MINFOF Divisional Delegation - Abong Mbang.

LAGA participates in the 15th CITES Conference of the Parties (CoP) in Doha – Qatar. The meeting was used to push for wildlife law enforcement in different forums, and many side meetings with countries to replicate the LAGA model; NGOs, other state agencies to collaborate on international law enforcement, researchers and donors.

Investigations

- 15 investigation missions of varying lengths were carried out in 5 Regions of Cameroon- North West, South, West, Littoral and Center.
- Investigations are still ongoing pertaining to 3 targets that are implicated in trying to illegally export the more than 1000 parrots seized at the Douala International Airport destined for Bahrain and Kuwait.

- Internet Investigations are still ongoing concerning 1 Internet Wildlife trafficker in Bamenda – North West Region. He is engaged in the falsification of government documents and CITES Permit.
- Field tests continued with more candidates as the department is experiencing a shortage in effective investigators. 1 new candidate was tested with encouraging results.

Operations

2 operations were carried out this month against 3 subjects.

- 19/03/10 – 2 dealers were arrested in Kribi – South Region with 14 sea turtle shells. They have been in this illegal business for long and were carrying out their illegal activities openly and with impunity because of the lack of any concrete action to repel this illegal trade. This operation proves that illegal trade in sea turtle shells has been ongoing for long and very strong in that area, a problem that necessitated LAGA's intervention in hitting main actors and exposing this illegal trade.

Activism Front

- Education activities were carried out on the following: Assessment of the international solidarity in front of natural disasters: The case of earthquake in Haiti.
The aid nations give to countries in natural disasters is most often double minded and goes beyond solidarity. Even though the responses are bounded by cooperation, human affection (through government and non-governmental humanitarian organizations), the reasons for such responses are diplomatic, economic, political, affective and for advertisement. This is what the presentation seeks to evaluate.

- Sunset in Beijing - The explanation of the Beijing summit on the Rights of Women, and an analysis of the result obtained. The presentation concludes with a reflection question on the way forward for not only the women but men in the fight.

A poster put up by some projects claiming to protect sea turtles in the town of Kribi. The LAGA Director have been using in some of his presentations for a long time the example of Kribi and Campo where several projects claimed to work on the protection of sea turtles for years with strong contrast to the open sale of sea turtle shells. Links of this month

Conservation Justice Gabon – a project initiated and to be managed by Luc Mathot will effectively kick-off by June 2010. Luc was in charge of assuring the effective functioning of the PALF Project in the Republic of Congo with the assistance of LAGA. LAGA's goal from 2003 has been to create a new model for NGO-Government collaboration establishing wildlife law enforcement. Our hope was that by bringing about results with an innovative approach, we will be able to change the existing system and trigger a paradigm shift in the way NGOs tackle wildlife crime. Conservation Justice Gabon aims to facilitate the replication of the LAGA Model in the Central African sub-region already successful with the projects PALF (Republic of Congo) and RALF (Central African Republic).
